

Biography

Wayne Lee is a Peak Performance Expert, Hall of Fame Speaker, and Award-Winning Entertainer who values the magic and unlimited potential that we all have within us. As a five-time Canadian amateur wrestling champion and a former classroom school teacher, Wayne brings his unique perspective to your organization on the mindset that is needed for your team to deal with change, take more risks, and bring their full creative selves to work and their personal lives.

For over 20 years, Wayne has helped audiences realize that self-limiting beliefs in their subconscious mind keep them from bringing their fullest potential to work. His Peak Performance keynote and Live the Laughter hypnosis show combine insights from decades of research with humor and live interaction to help your people discover the power of “The Peak Performance Mindset”.

Wayne’s own journey to excellence has been fueled by an unrelenting passion for empowering people. From a childhood fascination with magic and overcoming a serious neck injury through visualization, Wayne’s gift and passion for seeing potential and acting upon it have allowed him to grow his career and speak to audiences worldwide.

Wayne has helped over 6,000 audiences experience a real-time transformation from self-limiting beliefs and fear towards positivity, alignment, and peak performance. His ability to combine the roles of teacher, guide, and entertainer has earned him the appreciation of meeting professionals, several of whom book him repeatedly.

Today he works with leading brands to guide their leaders and teams through stressful, constantly changing and fast-paced environment that is now commonplace. Wayne shows each audience how to reconnect with what matters most so they can achieve any result, all while enjoying the ride of their life.

When Wayne is not on the road speaking, he spends his time at home in Edmonton, Canada with his wife, 2 young children, and their Goldendoodle Shazam.
